Current situation

- Various initiatives happening at the same time
- Large number of stakeholders
- Same boat & one objective: interoperable electronic public procurement in Europe
- Need for co-ordination and co-operation

The Concept

- An initiative supported by the European Commission and hosted by the ePractice portal to gather together eProcurement experts
- Provided to an open community for a free usage
- No “control” from the Commission
- Strategic goal: all eProcurement professionals aware of each other activities
- Objectives:
  - Create and maintain a live community of European eProcurement practitioners
  - Foster knowledge exchange
  - Encourage discussions and sharing of doubts

eProcurement Forum

The eProcurement Forum at ePractice.eu is an initiative sponsored by the European Commission to help all the practitioners in public electronic procurement (“eProcurement”) in Europe to meet and share their experiences and knowledge, to ask and provide support. The community is open to practitioners from European administrations, from public and private organisations, from academia and research centres. Hopefully such variety of stakeholders will provide different contributions, approaches and points of view. The eProcurement Forum is an open space to express opinions and exchange knowledge and where members are encouraged to provide contributions and participate in the discussions and events. It is not an official Commission site The community is mainly focused on technical and organisational aspects of eProcurement.

Will you help us?

We have the ambitious objective to make the eProcurement Forum the main reference point in Europe for exchanging ideas and finding knowledge on eProcurement and related topics. We can reach it with your help! How?

Once you have joined the community, you can contribute in several ways. For example, you can:

The community pages describe the objectives and provide additional information and guides

- ▶ Provide documents to be included in the Library section through the "Propose a library item" option.
- ▶ Propose us new events.
- ▶ Attend events where you can meet other members.
- ▶ Cooperate with the organisation and be a speaker at the workshops. These events will be organised by the Forum on the base of the needs/proposals expressed by the eProcurement Forum.
- ▶ Keep updated your personal profile and your cases.

New initiatives and services for supporting the community are continuously launched and new collaboration possibilities for the members are made available. To be continuously updated, each member will receive once a month a community newsletter.

The eProcurement Forum team has prepared a form (available at <http://www.epractice.eu/resource/1885>) to be used as a guide for collecting technical information to be integrated within new case descriptions (prepared by the form available at <http://www.epractice.eu/mygpcase/new>).

The questions included in the form are aimed at gathering details on:

- Supported phases and procedures

Facilitator's Corner

- Edit community details
- Customize community resources
- Insert new editorial page

Leave this community

A step-by-step guide for the preparation of eProcurement cases

In addition to the form, the technical guide contains two appendices:

- Appendix I: a Glossary of eProcurement terms
- Appendix II: a list of Guidelines and reference documents for eProcurement (organized by phases and key enablers)

How to use it

In order to prepare complete and clear description of cases, we suggest the following steps:

- download the technical form
- fill-in the relevant sections of the technical form. Read Appendix I in order to use the correct terms. If you want to know more about standardization activities and specifications that are relevant for each phase or key enablers, consult the Appendix II;
- accommodate the information in the case form, following the indications provided in the heading of each subsection;
- complete the case description with the general information about your case and publish the case;
- return the filled technical form to the eProcurement Forum team (by e-mail to eprocurement@epractice.eu).
